

FROZENE LOTT HAYES

The gospel music ministry of multiple Rhythm of Gospel Awards-winning artist, Frozene Lott Hayes is a living testimony to faith triumphant over tribulation. When she began her ministry in 1982 as an Independent Gospel Artist with the songs “Lord Will You Use Me” and “Already Been to the Water,” Frozene had no idea that one day, in the depths of her own personal tragedy, she herself would be embracing such words and feelings, ultimately rejuvenated by the very music that God has blessed her with the talent to bring forth.

Since her first release in 1985 of a Traditional Gospel recording of 6 songs, titled “Reach out for Jesus,” Frozene has recorded “Build Bridges Instead of Walls,” produced by renowned Chicago music producer Richard Gibbs (2003), and “Thank You Jesus One More Time,” produced by the director of the Orchestra Nashville Gospel Choir, Nathan Young (2007). In 2011, she released her first single, “There is a God.” Her most-recently released single is “Oh Lord, Who Shall Abide.” And current single release, “It’s Praying Time/”Healer”

Frozene is one of the lead vocalist featured on two of the Late Reverend C.L. Fairchild’s performances -- “I’ve Got a Testimony” and “Have You Tried Him” -- with his Voices of Greater Faith; and she has appeared on Nashville’s legendary Nashville Gospel TV show, and recorded Live TV tapings for Chicago’s Gospel TV, “Testify,” “Dr. Bobby Jones Gospel,” and Nashville’s “Reaching the World Ministries.”

She received “Most Influential African American Arts & Entertainment Award” through the People’s Voice News of Lake County, Illinois. Frozene is the founder of the Lt. Robert Hayes & Aaron Hayes Memorial Scholarship and Youth Basketball Foundation. www.bobcatandgoat.com A Foundation established in the legacy of her sons supporting graduating High School and continuing college students.

2019 thru 2020 Frozene held the title, Queen of MS Rhythm of Gospel. Besides her past successes, she is a 6-time winner of the Rhythm of Gospel Awards, in categories such as Traditional Female vocalist; Traditional Artist of the Year; Praise and Worship Song of the Year. Her most recent awards was the recipient of the 2019 Prayze Factor “Traditional Solo Artist” and 2021 Rhythm of Gospel (Best Performance by Female).
